Mean Molly's Trio was formed 3 years ago at a swap meet by Mark (Uncle Elvis) and Timm (Rev. Big Daddy G.), high school rivals who hadn't seen each other in ten years. They bumped into each other rummaging through someone's old record collection. After the usual banter a light of inspiration struck; Timm put down his Lightnin' Hopkins record and Mark the latest Mudhoney LP; they turned to each other and said, "Let's start a band!" After a couple of jam sessions and a few tall boys Mark called on Clint (Stank) and asked him to drop in on rhythm guitar and keys, to that he gracefully declined. He had just picked up a fancy trap kit and wanted to try his hand on the skins. After wrestling around for a while he finally picked up a beat, dropped a groove, the rest, as they say... is living history!

Since its inception Mean Molly's Trio has come out swinging, shaking the Utah music scene to its core; demanding an open ear and a mobbing dance floor wherever they go. Serving up a precocious blend of hometown swagger with a stupid amount of sincerity. They're sure to get you on your feet!

While Mark Young (bass) and Clint Stanger (drums) set the stage with a straight down impressive sense of rhythm (and lavish good looks) Timm Gehrett (guitar, vocals) sets in with a rasping thunder and conviction in his voice like you've never heard before. Then, without remorse he sticks it to the crowd with a one-handed guitar solo. Hanging his black fedora on the rusty microphone, he proceeds to twist the dagger with his moustache bending speed and mind warping articulation.

With nearly three years and an impressive amount of original songs under their belt they've hit the streets with a full-length album, Things I See. They've found their groove and have started beating out what is now a break down of the garage rock style with an extra measure of that abrasive blues swank we've come to know and love.

The coming months are going to be very promising for the trio. With a new member on keys and lap steel, suitcases full of merchandise, and a ton of CDs they'll be playing all over Utah and the surrounding states handing out their schwag to anyone with a few bills for gas. Come find them at a show near you!
